

INT. CORRIDOR OF THE LOUVRE (PARIS)

Becca leans on the TARDIS and observes the Doctor, how he scans the sculpture with his sonic screwdriver.

BECCA

Doctor, does something like this happen to you often?

DOCTOR

Yes, you could say that. Why do you ask?
(reads something absent from his screwdriver)

BECCA

Well, that with time travel I understand ...
(strolls to the Doctor)
But I never thought that the Venus de Milo just grow arms.
(looks to the Statue)
That's kind of creepy.
(shudders and looks at the Doctor)
Do you think it could grow even more?

DOCTOR

Oh, Becca. Poor little Rebecca Barker ...
(lays soothing hand on her shoulder)
I would say you worry are entirely justified.
(turns to the statue and looks at it)

BECCA

Oh, thank you for your reassuring words.
(rolls her eyes)
With what do we deal?

DOCTOR

I have to tell you, unfortunately, that the Venus de Milo was not created by a human.
(puts an arm around her while he speaks)
It is a living being, Becca. An alien from the stars, which feeds on your un-lived moments ...

BECCA

But it is stone. I can see it ...

Becca interrupts the doctor, shaking her head in disbelief and tears herself. She goes to the barrier and rises above it.

DOCTOR

Stay!

BECCA

Calm down! (stops and turns to the Doctor)
Do you think I touch on a priceless work of art ... again.

DOCTOR

I did not mean you, Becca ... and now come to me slowly.

BECCA

(swallows and hardly moves)

You tease me only, Doctor? Right?

Because of the things that I have just done.

Right? Say something, Doctor!

(freaks out almost)

DOCTOR

Yes ... (nods and laughs)

But now come here before it finalizes its reconstruction.

BECCA

(breathes in relief and jumps over the barrier)

I hate you! I'm almost scared me to death.

(hits him against the chest and sees the statue)

Oh my god ...

The Venus de Milo has taken the form of a stone angel, which both staring angrily.

BECCA

Now I believe you, Doctor.

(pegs frightened to the doctor)

And what do we do about it?

DOCTOR

(stares without blinking at the angel)

First of all: Stare at it and don't blink!

BECCA

(does what he says)

Why?

DOCTOR

They can only move and attack if they are not considered. If you look at them, they occupy a specific position in space and time and freeze into solid stone statues - the ultimate defense mechanism.

BECCA

So we have to see this thing all the time in the eyes to survive?

DOCTOR

No, under no circumstances you see him in its eyes.

BECCA

(looks down)

But you said ...

DOCTOR

I know what I said! Look at it, but not in his eyes.

They can take your thoughts, when you look directly into their eyes.

BECCA

Okay, okay. I understand!

Don't blink and don't look into their eyes.

And what happens next? We cannot stand around here forever.

DOCTOR

Okay, listen to me carefully. I count to ten...

BECCA

Yes and then?

DOCTOR

We turn around and run to the TARDIS.

BECCA

What?! That's their glorious plan? And what if we caught earlier?

DOCTOR

Then we do the by you expected time travel ...

BECCA

What do you mean?

DOCTOR

I told you that it's an alien that feeds from your un-lived moments ...

BECCA

(nods slightly)

DOCTOR

And they do this by catapult yourself somewhere in the time.

BECCA

Oh great and all thanks to you only.

DOCTOR

What?! You've hijacked the TARDIS.

BECCA

Yes, but they can still prevent it!

DOCTOR

What could I do please?

Had I throw myself on you?

BECCA

(sighs)

Doctor, can you do me leastwise a favor, when we are already in this situation?

DOCTOR

Yes? ...

BECCA

Start to count!

DOCTOR

Oh, okay ...

He counts from ten down, while already slowly some steps decrease.

DOCTOR

... One! Run, Becca, run!

(turns around and runs to the TARDIS)

Becca runs off, but trips about something and falls to ground.

BECCA

DOCTOR! (shouts)

The Doctor gets out his key, opens the door and disappears in the TARDIS.

INT. TARDIS

DOCTOR

Uff, this was scarce!

(leans against the closed door)

Wait, a moment.

(thinks)

Becca?!

The Doctor turns around and opens the door of the TARDIS. Outdoors the angel looks at him with fossilized mine.

DOCTOR

Oh, no ...

(closes the door in hurry and runs to the control panel)

I have lost a companion ... again!

(shakes his head and pulls up the monitor)

Besides, we hardly knew ourselves!

(types something on the control panel)

But this time I do not surrender so simply!

(runs around the control panel and starts the TARDIS)

Rebecca Barker, I come!

The TARDIS moves through the time vortex.

EXT. ALLEY IN LONDON 1973

Becca wakes up with thunderous head in an alley.

BECCA

Doctor?

She stands up, touches his head and looking around aimlessly.

BECCA

Where Am I? Doctor?!

(looks around and realizes that she's alone)

Oh, no! Do not say I am alone! I will hurt you so much, Doctor!

Becca goes down the alley and finds himself in a shopping street. She goes to the newsstand and looks at the newspaper. It is the date 12th June 2013 showed.

BECCA

Okay, then I will hurt you in 30 years...

but you will feel it still the next day, Doctor!

(cries it to heaven)

KOPIERGESCHÜTZT